

Rockin' Toddler Halloween Songs

For the record, I am not the author of any of these incredibly fun songs! I have tried to give credit when I could discover the author. Please let me know if you know the name of one of the authors. I did adapt several of them to make them more inclusive and others to include skills toddlers have (i.e. waving & pointing). All the songs are available online and on YouTube if you want to hear the music or have questions about movements.
